The signs of Recognition in Environment Management of Skills and Training

30 September 2010 – FCBA (Paris) – 9 h/17 h

The Furniture Industry has to face important challenges in front of the globalisation of the market, and of the new states within the environment. Indeed, the European companies need to know how the National and European Label differ from recognition on various companies products. But, they also have to recognise the necessity of informing manpower to keep abreast of Continual Professional Development by updating their qualifications and skills in a continuous way and help develop new ones.

FCBA are organising a seminar to be held 30th September 2010. The two themes for this event for professionals of the furnishing and the fitting industry, being Environment and Skills & Training.

This day will cover the following topics:

- What are the expectations of the consumers in environmental labels?
- The national labels such as NF Environment, the European Furniture Ecolabel, the comparisons between national labels
- The results of the LILAC project with a Web system which allows the management of skills and the sharing of a base of knowledge of the information organized by skills
- Modules of information about environment, eco-design, innovation.

This event will give the opportunity to share information with National and European partners.

Please make a note of the date in your diary to attend this event.
